

Peruvian President Says U.S. and Cuba Have Made a “Key Step” Towards Americas’ Integration

Lima, December 18 (RHC-Andina) -- Peru's President Ollanta Humala welcomed the announcement about an approach between the United States and Cuba by emphasizing it to be "a key, historic and brave step" in favor of Americas' integration process.

The Head of State recalled Peru's position, expressed at international forums, which has always been "in favor" of Cuba's inclusion in the region.

The message by Peru's President comes after U.S. and Cuban presidents have said their countries will be engaged in starting talks to normalize diplomatic relations.
