

Roberto Chorens: National Arts Teaching Award Winner

The National Arts Teaching Award for 2015 was granted to musician and pedagogue, Roberto Chorens, in recognition of his successful career as a professor in different Cuban artistic educational institutions.

The classrooms of the National Music School, attached to the National Art School, knew of Chorens' excellence, as well as the Higher Institute for the Art's Music Department. On the Cuban TV show University for All, the renowned pedagogue taught courses on Music History and Appreciation, Cuban musicians and Cuban songs and emotions. An organ player, Chorens has been awarded several decorations, including the distinction for Cuban Education and for National Culture, as well as the Alejo Carpentier Medal.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/cultura/44087-roberto-chorens-national-arts-teaching-award-winner>

Radio Habana Cuba