

Half of U.S. Senate Refuses to Formally Acknowledge Man-Made Climate Change

Washington, January 31 (RHC)-- Half of the United States Senate has refused to formally acknowledge the existence of man-made climate change. Forty-nine Republicans voted against a measure noting "human activity significantly contributes to climate change."

The U.S. Senate did overwhelmingly approve a resolution acknowledging that climate change is not a hoax; just one person voted against it -- Mississippi Republican Sen. Roger Wicker.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/45346-half-of-us-senate-refuses-to-formally-acknowledge-man-made-climate-change>

Radio Habana Cuba