

U.S. Police Fatally Shoot Driver Who Failed to Stop Outside NSA

Washington, March 31 (RHC)-- U.S. police agents at the National Security Agency in Fort Meade, Maryland, shot and killed the driver of a car after he refused calls to stop.

Police opened fire, killing the driver and injuring the passenger, when they failed to stop and "accelerated toward an NSA police vehicle." Officials say they found cocaine and at least one gun in the vehicle.
