

New Municipal Governments Set Up Across Cuba

Havana, May 13 (RHC) -- Cuban electoral officials reported that 168 municipal parliaments, or Assemblies of People's Power, are being constituted across the country on Wednesday.

Tomás Amarán Díaz, secretary of the National Electoral Commission, said that the 12 thousand 589 elected delegates to municipal governments will assume their posts and elect their president and vice president in the 168 local parliaments.
