

U.S. Cancer Charities Accused of $187 Million Fraud

Washington, May 21 (RHC)-- Four U.S. cancer charities are being accused of massive fraud. The U.S. Federal Trade Commission says the groups funneled some $187 million into top officials' pockets.

The charities are the Cancer Fund of America, Cancer Support Services, Children's Cancer Fund of America and the Breast Cancer Society. It could be one of the largest charity fraud cases of all time.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/56727-us-cancer-charities-accused-of-187-million-fraud>

Radio Habana Cuba