

Thousands March for Climate Justice in Rome Ahead of Vatican Conference

Rome, June 29 (RHC)-- Thousands of people marched in Rome on Sunday to promote Pope Francis' historic call for global action on climate change. A Vatican encyclical this month urged world leaders to pay their "grave social debt" to the poor and take swift action to save the planet from environmental ruin.

Organizers of the march said the cause of climate justice unites all faiths. The Vatican is hosting a conference on climate change this week with activists and scientists from around the world.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/60743-thousands-march-for-climate-justice-in-rome-ahead-of-vatican-conference>

Radio Habana Cuba