

Cuban Parliamentary Permanent Committees Open Sessions

Havana, July 11, (RHC), The ten permanent commissions of Cuba's National Assembly have started debates on Saturday to evaluate the country's current situation in different spheres.

The commission's debates will end on July 15 at Havana's Convention Center, where subsequently Cuban lawmakers will convene for the 5th Ordinary Session of the 8th Legislature of the parliament on Wednesday.

Issues to be discussed by the parliamentary committees include gender equality, education and cultural policies, military affairs and health care policies.
