

Report Says U.S.-Led Airstrikes Killed 459 Iraqi and Syrian Civilians

Washington, August 21 (RHC)-- A report by the independent monitoring group Airwars estimates that U.S.-led airstrikes targeting ISIL in Iraq and Syria have killed at least 459 civilians since the bombings began about a year ago.

The U.S.-led coalition has launched nearly 6,000 airstrikes in the two countries. Thus far, the U.S. has acknowledged its airstrikes have killed only two civilians.
