

Colombian Airline Opens Parcel Service to Cuba

Bogota, September 26 (PL-RHC)-- Colombian airline Aviatour and its cargo department Avia Express opened in Bogotá a parcel service that will be provided by the company to various airports in Cuba with the collaboration of Aerovaradero company.

The parcel service, in which the Cuban airline Cubana de Aviacion will also participate with its cargo offers, was launched at the headquarters of the Embassy of Cuba in Bogota, and the ceremony was attended by various officials from the aviation and tourism sector.

The ceremony was presided over by Aviatour president Jean Claude Bessudo and Cuban Ambassador Ivan Mora, and attended by Senator Ivan Cepeda and Pierre-Yves Calloc'h, manager in Colombia of the French brand Pernod Ricard, distributor of the Havana Club rum.

According to the information provided by the directors of Aviatour and representatives of Cubana de Aviacion in Colombia, the parcel service will cover airports in the provinces of Havana, Matanzas (Varadero), Camaguey, Holguin and Santiago de Cuba.

Radio Habana Cuba