

WikiLeaks Publishes Batch of E-mails from CIA Director's Personal Account

Washington, October 24 (RHC)-- WikiLeaks has released the first in a series of e-mails from CIA Director John Brennan's personal account.

The release includes documents on Iran and interrogation methods as well as a draft security clearance application which contained Brennan's wife's Social Security number, addresses of Brennan's children and a phone number attributed to former CIA Director George Tenet.

A teenager who claimed he hacked Brennan's AOL account told the New York Post he was protesting U.S. foreign policy.
