

States With Governors Opposing Syrian Refugees

At the White House, the Barack Obama administration has said it still plans to accept Syrian refugees. The U.S. State Department says that refugees from Syria go through an intense screening process, involving the National Counterterrorism Center, the FBI's Terrorist Screening Center, the Department of Homeland Security and the Department of Defense.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/76254-governors-of-27-us-states-refuse-to-accept-syrian-refugees>

Radio Habana Cuba