

Entrevoces and The Rolling Stones on the 25th

The renowned choir, Entrevoces, directed by National Music Award laureate, Digna Guerra, will be in concert with the famous British band The Rolling Stones on March 25th.

The director of only Cuban vocal group to accompany the London based band in its Havana concert confirmed the tremendous honor and responsibility involved in the invitation, announcing that the song that the choir will sing with the British group at the concert's end is You Can't Always Get What You Want by Mick Jagger and Kate Richard.

We got very excited about this invitation, said Guerra, who is also a Cuban Art University Professor and Parliament member, adding that she fully understands the magnitude of the Rolling Stones' presentation in Cuba. It is a great honor and a huge commitment for me and for the Entrevoces choir to have been invited to this great cultural event that will take place in our country, she ratified. The concert will take place on March 25 at 8:00 p.m. at Havana's Sports City Coliseum, where the British rock band is set to wind up its current Latin America tour.
