

Russia Federal Watchdogs Inspect National and Foreign Airliners

Moscow, Mar 23 (RHC)--- Russia's Federal Transportation and Inspection Services will check the security systems of every national and international airlines.

Tuesday, the aviation authorities announced the reinforcement of security in every national airport, due to the terrorist attacks in Belgium.

Vladimir Chertok, Vice President of the Federal Inspection Service, said they are being especially incisive with low-cost air companies.

The accident was blamed to man err, adverse climate conditions and defective height, resulted in the catastrophe that killed 55 travelers and seven crew.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/en/noticias/internacionales/88205-russia-federal-watchdogs-inspect-national-and-foreign-airliners>

Radio Habana Cuba