

White House Backs IMF Push for More Austerity in Greece

Washington, April 29 (RHC)-- The White House has backed calls for Greece to continue to implement widespread austerity measures, following President Obama's meeting with German Chancellor Angela Merkel earlier this week.

Greece and its international creditors are once again negotiating the terms of Greece's bailout and the extent of the austerity measures creditors can impose.

On Wednesday, White House spokesperson Josh Earnest told reporters the administration believes Greece must follow through on "structural reforms."
