

U.S. Government Pays Family of Italian Aid Worker Killed by Drone Strike

Washington, August 1 (RHC)-- The U.S. government has reached an agreement with the family of Giovanni Lo Porto, an Italian aid worker killed in a CIA drone strike in Pakistan last year.

Lawyers for the family told The Intercept the government had paid compensation, but did not disclose the amount.

The agreement comes more than a year after President Barack Obama acknowledged and apologized for the operation, which killed Lo Porto and a U.S. government contractor named Warren Weinstein.

Despite hundreds of hours of surveillance, Obama said the United States had not known that the hostages were present.
