

Bolivian Official Praises Cuba's Cooperation

La Paz, August 11 (RHC)-- Bolivia's Presidency Minister Juan Ramón Quintana has thanked Cuba for its cooperation with the Andean nation in sectors like education and health.

The Bolivian official attended Wednesday's launching in La Paz of a book entitled 'Bolivialeaks' on revelations by wikileaks about U.S. interference in Bolivian affairs.

The Bolivian presidency minister contrasted Washington's continued attempts to destroy the process of change started by President Evo Morales in Bolivia with the solidarity and cooperation of sister nations like Cuba. He praised specifically the work being carrying out by Cuban professionals in remote communities, saving lives and teaching thousands of Bolivians how to read and write.
