

Report Says Donald Trump Receives Daily Folder with Positive News Stories... About Himself

Washington, August 10 (RHC)-- Vice News is reporting that U.S. President Donald Trump receives a 20-page propaganda folder twice a day filled with positive news... about himself. Three current and former White House officials who spoke with Vice News said the folder includes positive tweets, fawning news stories and sometimes even just photos of Trump looking good on television.

According to the article, the propaganda file had been delivered personally by former Chief of Staff Reince Priebus or former White House Press Secretary Sean Spicer. Spicer has disputed the article, although he refused to say which parts are inaccurate.
