

Experts from 17 Countries to Attend Agricultural Land Measurement Convention in Havana

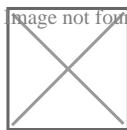

Havana, September 6 (RHC)-- Experts from 17 nations will participate in the 8th International Convention on Agricultural Land Measurement, set for September 26th through the 30th at Havana's TRYP Habana Libre Hotel.

The organizing committee said that 86 specialists have confirmed their attendance, noting that most attendees come from Argentina, Mexico, Spain, U.S. and the Dominican republic.

PhD in Sciences Silvia Valladares Amaro said Cuba will be represented by more than 200 experts with the Geocuba Business Group.

The Havana convention will focus on agricultural land measurement, methods, based on basic geometry or involving GPS and satellite imagery, different options and technologies.
