

U.S. Senate Tax Bill Would End Health Insurance Mandate

Washington, November 16 (RHC)-- In the United States, Senate Republicans have added a repeal of the Affordable Care Act's individual health insurance mandate to their plan to overhaul the U.S. tax code.

The plan would end a requirement that most Americans obtain health insurance or face a tax penalty -- a linchpin in keeping former President Barack Obama's signature healthcare law from collapsing.

Meanwhile, the Congressional Budget Office warns that the House Republicans' tax bill would trigger $25 billion in cuts to Medicare next year. Both the House and Senate plans would shower billions of dollars in tax cuts on the wealthiest Americans.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/internacionales/147553-us-senate-tax-bill-would-end-health-insurance-mandate>

Radio Habana Cuba