

Yemeni grain supplies at risk of rotting as millions face famine

Sanaa, February 13 (RHC)-- In Yemen, the United Nations is warning that grain supplies that could feed up to 3.5 million people for one month are at risk of rotting due to the ongoing war.

The flour mills, located in the port city of Hodeidah, store grain from the World Food Program and have been inaccessible since September.

The United Nations has affirmed that Yemen is the worst humanitarian crisis in the world, with 10 million people on the brink of famine.
