

Cubans continue to sign petition in support of Venezuela

Havana, February 18 (RHC)-- Cubans across the country continue to sign a petition denouncing threats of U.S. military aggression against Venezuela.

The campaign, which got underway last Wednesday, is taking place across the island -- at work centers, educational institutions, health care centers, military facilities and local neighborhoods.

The document condemns U.S. attempts to manipulate the issue of humanitarian in order to justify military intervention in the Bolivarian Revolution and oust Constitutional President Nicolás Maduro.

To date, thousands of Cubans have signed the petition demanding an end to Washington's interference in the country's internal affairs.
