

Pelosi accuses Trump and Pence of selling out the Constitution

Washington, August 6 (RHC)—US House of Representatives Speaker Nancy has accused Vice President Mike Pence of "selling out the Constitution" to financially benefit President Donald Trump following the vice president's stay at one of Trump's resorts in Ireland, reports The Hill news website.

Pelosi argued in a statement that Pence was just the "latest Republican elected official to enable President Trump's violations of the Constitution," saying that that American people deserved better from its government.

"Vice President Pence promised that their Administration would defend the Constitution and stand by a 'strict constructionist' interpretation of the Constitution," she said. "Instead the Trump-Pence Administration is ignoring the text itself and selling out the Constitution to line Trump's pockets."

She added that Trump's properties were a "cesspool of corruption" and a "black hole for tax payers' money."

The White House has faced mounting scrutiny from Democrats over Pence's stay at the Trump property in Doonberg, Ireland, earlier this week despite the property being about 180 miles away from Dublin, where his meetings with Irish leaders took place.
