

At least 34 Palestinians killed in two days as Israel bombs Gaza Strip

Ramallah, November 15 (RHC)-- In the Gaza Strip, Palestinians have agreed to a tenuous ceasefire with Israel's military after Israel launched its biggest attacks on the territory in months.

After the ceasefire took effect, at least five rockets were launched from Gaza, prompting air raid alarms in southern Israel, where 1 million Israeli children were ordered to remain at home. Several Israelis reported minor injuries from falling rockets.

Gaza's Health Ministry says 34 Palestinians were killed in the fighting, with dozens more wounded. Among the dead were eight members of a single family -- including five children -- who were crushed to death when an Israeli airstrike flattened their home.

The fighting erupted after Israel bombed the home of a senior member of the Palestinian group Islamic Jihad on Tuesday, killing the commander and his wife and injuring their children.
