

U.S. Drone Strikes Kill Dozens in Yemen

Saana, April 21 (RHC)-- Dozens of people have been killed in two consecutive days of U.S. drone attacks inside Yemen. Around 15 people died over the weekend when a U.S. missile hit a road in the central province of al-Bayda. Between three to six civilians were killed, while the rest were described as suspected al-Qaeda militants.

On Sunday, around 25 people were killed in two U.S. attacks on southern areas. The victims were also described as suspected al-Qaeda militants. Another drone attack was reportedly carried out earlier today, but details are unclear.
