The new shop has two walk-in humidors, private members keeps, a large and very comfortable sampling lounge, a selection of fine spirits available by the glass or by the bottle, a bar and, of course, a comprehensive selection of Habanos including many rare and vintage Habanos. The Habanos are available individually or by the box.

The people behind this new shop, Ajay and Bhavna Patel are well known to many people within the world of Habanos. They have over twenty-five experience in the cigar industry and opened the U. K's first La Casa Del Habano over ten years ago. Their Casa remains open and continues to go from strength to strength, as Ajay says;

“This is a project we have considered for a number of years, but we felt the time was right and we found the perfect location, so we decided to go for it. The new shop is an addition to our existing one, not a replacement for it.”

The new store is managed by Master of Havana Cigars, Greg Horvath who says; “This is a wonderful experience for any cigar smoker, we have had a very positive response from everyone who has visited us, and this is just the start”
