

Democrats postpone presidential nominating convention until August

Washington, April 4 (RHC)-- In the U.S., the Democratic National Committee has announced it will delay its presidential nominating convention in Milwaukee by a month, to August 17th. The DNC's announcement came as Democratic front-runner Joe Biden urged Wisconsin to proceed with in-person voting at polling sites across the state during a scheduled primary election next Tuesday.

Earlier this week, a federal judge declined to postpone the election but said Wisconsin was ignoring public health data and "endangering its population." Wisconsin's poll workers are overwhelmingly elderly, and many have health conditions that put them at high risk of death if they're infected.

Democratic Governor Tony Evers has called up the National Guard to fill in for an estimated 7,000 poll workers who've refused to participate.

Biden's opponent, Senator Bernie Sanders, has called for a delay to allow Wisconsinites to vote entirely by mail. Wisconsin Senator Tammy Baldwin and the mayors of Milwaukee, Green Bay and Racine are also calling for a delay.

Wisconsin has reported at least 38 deaths from COVID-19, and residents who wish to brave in-person voting will be exempted from a shelter-in-place order.
