

Puerto Ricans demand more COVID-19 testing

San Juan, April 17 (RHC)-- In Puerto Rico, protesters in cars rallied outside the island's government-funded public television station WIPR, denouncing what they called propaganda produced by Governor Wanda Vázquez about the coronavirus pandemic. Protesters also demanded more COVID-19 testing on the island.

Elsewhere, emergency medical workers held a protest that ended in front of the governor's mansion, demanding they be included in the government's economic coronavirus relief package.
