

Trump claims damaged border wall funded by backers was to make him look bad

Washington, July 14 (RHC)-- U.S. President Donald Trump has lashed out against a section of wall along the U.S.-Mexico border that was privately funded by his own supporters.

The three-mile barrier in the Rio Grande Valley was completed just months ago with support from the pro-Trump nonprofit "We Build the Wall," whose board of directors includes Trump allies Kris Kobach, Tom Tancredo and Steve Bannon.

The wall is already showing signs of heavy erosion. Now Trump has tweeted: "I disagreed with doing this very small (tiny) section of wall, in a tricky area, by a private group which raised money by ads. It was only done to make me look bad."
