

U.S. prosecutor charges white couple who pointed guns at BLM protesters

St. Louis, July 22 (RHC)-- In the U.S. state of Missouri, a white St. Louis couple who pointed guns at antiracist protesters who marched in front of their mansion last month have been charged with unlawful use of a weapon.

Kim Gardner, who is St. Louis's first Black circuit attorney, filed the charges. She said: "We must protect the right to peacefully protest, and any attempt to chill it through intimidation will not be tolerated."
