

Protesters in Honduras demand release of Garífuna land defenders

Tegucigalpa, July 27 (RHC)-- In Honduras, protests continue demanding the return of five Garífuna land defenders who were kidnapped last week in the northern coastal town of Triunfo de la Cruz. On Saturday, police reportedly began shooting at a crowd of protesters.

Garífuna leaders believe the Honduran police and military are involved in the disappearance.

Miriam Miranda, a Garífuna leader with the group Black Fraternal Organization of Honduras, spoke from her home in Honduras Sunday, saying: "What happened eight days ago today is the reflection of a systemic persecution and systemic repression, but also a well-crafted plan on behalf of the Honduran state to exterminate the Garífuna community."
