

Three Salvadoran officers sentenced to 20 years for killing trans woman

San Salvador, August 5 (RHC)-- In El Salvador, a judge sentenced three police officers to 20 years each for the 2019 killing of 29-year-old Camila Díaz Córdova, a transgender woman.

Prosecutors say the officers brutally assaulted her, then threw her out of a moving vehicle. Díaz Córdova had been deported from the U.S. a year before she was killed. The case marks the first homicide conviction for the killing of a transgender person in El Salvador.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/internacionales/230714-three-salvadoran-officers-sentenced-to-20-years-for-killing-trans-woman>

Radio Habana Cuba