

U.S. drone strikes and raids on Yemen accelerated under Donald Trump

Image not found or type unknown

U.S. drone strikes and raids on Yemen accelerated under Donald Trump. (Photo: US Department of Defense)

Sanaa, November 1 (RHC)-- In Yemen, the watchdog monitoring group Airwars says U.S. drone strikes have killed as many as 154 civilians since President Trump took office — including at least 28 children — accelerating a trend that began under former President Barack Obama.

Airwars found that in less than four years, the Trump administration targeted Yemen for over 230 airstrikes or ground raids — nearly the same total as during eight years under Obama.

Millions of Yemenis face famine after years of a brutal U.S.-backed, Saudi-led bombing campaign that has devastated the country.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/internacionales/238443-us-drone-strikes-and-raids-on-yemen-accelerated-under-donald-trump>

Radio Habana Cuba