Trump's conspiracy theories about massive election fraud could spark violence

Philadelphia, November 11 (RHC)-- Top U.S. law enforcement officials are warning that Donald Trump's conspiracy theories about illegal voting could lead to far-right violence.

Philadelphia District Attorney Larry Krasner told HuffPo: "We're having a conversation with members of his base who believe that there is a satanic, pedophilic, sex ring running out of a pizza parlor. I have trouble figuring out whether these people are actually part of an elaborate 'Saturday Night Live' routine, or if we should be terrified because they like AR-15s."
