

Niurka Reyes releases second track from ‘Volver a enamorarse’

Image not found or type unknown

Cuban singer Niurka Reyes

Havana, March 15 (RHC)-- The second single ‘Y por si no hay mañana’ from the latest album by singer Niurka Reyes entitled ‘Volver a Enamorarse’ was released on March 12th on the official platforms of Cuba’s record and musical editions company EGREM.

EGREM announced that the album in DVD format and directed by Samuel Franco, will be released soon.

The first single of ‘Volver a Enamorarse’ was released on February 14th, as a gift to lovers on Saint Valentine’s Day. Written by Juan Kemell, the single ‘Disimulemos’ features popular singer Alain Daniel.

In ‘Volver a Enamorarse’, Niurka Reyes sings tunes, beautiful songs and ballads written by contemporary Cuban musicians, among them Juan Formell, Ricardo Amaray, José Valladares and Alina Clemente.

In statements to Cuban News Agency (ACN), she mentioned specifically the bolero tune ‘Si no me entiendes tú’, written by none other than maestro, the late Juan Formell and recorded by Pedrito Calvo and Los Van Van in 1984.

Niurka Reyes said that Formell himself asked her to record a new version and even proposed specific arrangements.

The new 13-track album by Niurka Reyes will be released in April.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/cultura/250852-niurka-reyes-releases-second-track-from-volver-a-enamorarse>

Radio Habana Cuba