Produced by Emilio Vega, the 14-track album includes new, contemporary versions of tunes popularized by Pacho in the 1950s and 60s, selected by his son, also renowned musician Pachito Alonso and Pacho's grandsons Christian and Rey Alonso.

It includes son, pilón, bolero and guaracha tunes, with titles like 'Dame la mano', 'Rico Pilón', 'Ya tú sabes mucho de la vida' and 'Niebla de riachuelo', among others.
