With all guns blazing, this Monday the third games of the semifinal pairings of the 61st National Baseball Series between the monarch Granma and Ciego de Avila, and Matanzas-Santi Spíritus, which are 2-0 in favor of Alazanes and Cocodrilos, will be played this Monday.

Matanzas, June 13 (ACN) - With all guns blazing, the third games of the semifinal pairings of the 61st National Baseball Series between the monarch Granma and Ciego de Avila, and Matanzas-Santi Spíritus, which are 2-0 in favor of Alazanes and Cocodrilos, will be played this Monday.

At the José Ramón Cepero stadium in Avila, the Ciego de Avila team needs an urgent reaction to stay alive in this duel against the Alazanes of mentor Carlos Martí, who have announced their candidacy for the fourth Cuban baseball crown.

Meanwhile, at the Victoria de Giron Park, in Matanzas, the pupils of mentor Armando Ferrer could give the ball to right-hander Renner Rivero, while helmsman Elier Sanchez has no other clearer truth than to give it to Yuen Socarras, his hero in the quarterfinals against the Vegueros of Pinar del Rio.

The Gallos need their crack Frederich Cepeda to get loose to bat and tow runs, taking advantage of the good moment that Rodolexis Moreno and Dariel Gómez, the first two bats of the lineup, are going through.
