

Argentina formally requests China to join BRICS

Image not found or type unknown

Argentinean President A. Fernandez wrote to President Xi Jinping to officially request to join the BRICS. With the support of India, Russia and China, the Russian FM believes the country meets all the requirements to join the most important economic group on the planet. | Photo: Twitter @ferreyragerardo

Buenos Aires, September 9 (RHC)-- The President of Argentina, Alberto Fernandez, has sent a letter to his Chinese counterpart, Xi Jinping, requesting the formal accession of his country to the BRICS group.

The Argentinean ambassador to China, Sabino Vaca Narvaja, announced that Fernandez sent a missive to his Chinese counterpart, who holds the 'pro tempore' presidency of BRICS, to formally request Argentina's inclusion in the bloc of emerging countries comprising Brazil, Russia, India, China, and South Africa.

"For us, the group is an excellent alternative for cooperation in the face of a world order that has proven to be created by and for the benefit of a few," said the Argentine representative at the BRICS forum held in the Chinese city of Xiamen.

In this sense, Vaca Narvaja was convinced of the “historic opportunity” that being a member of the bloc means for the development of a true joint strategy among the partner countries in order to face the complex global scenario.

In the midst of growing tensions between the U.S., Russia and China, Argentina opts to strengthen its ties with Moscow and Beijing. The government of Peronist Alberto Fernandez seeks with these approaches to reduce the South American country's dependence on Washington and the International Monetary Fund (IMF).

In addition, the Fernández government has emphasized its multilateral approach to the world and has called for overcoming Cold War logics.

In February, the Argentinean president concluded a tour that also took him to China and Russia, where he advocated closer political and economic ties with these countries. He also signed Argentina's adherence to the Silk Road, the investment, and infrastructure plan promoted by the Chinese president.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/internacionales/298719-argentina-formally-requests-china-to-join-brics>

Radio Habana Cuba