

U.S. Federal judge declares key parts of New York gun law unconstitutional

Image not found or type unknown

A U.S. federal judge has blocked major portions of a state law restricting who can carry concealed firearms in public spaces.

New York, October 8 (RHC)-- A U.S. federal judge has blocked major portions of a state law restricting who can carry concealed firearms in public spaces. District Court Judge Glenn Suddaby ruled that New York's attempts to bar guns from so-called sensitive spaces — including schools, libraries, museums and theaters — violated the constitutional right to carry a firearm for the purposes of self-defense.

New York Attorney General Letitia James has promised to appeal the court's ruling.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/internacionales/301370-us-federal-judge-declares-key-parts-of-new-york-gun-law-unconstitutional>

Radio Habana Cuba