

Lula postpones trip to China due to pneumonia

Image not found or type unknown

Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva postpones trip to China

Havana, March 25 (RHC) - Brazilian President Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva will travel to China tomorrow, after the trip scheduled for today was postponed as it was confirmed that he is facing pneumonia, official sources reported.

According to Lula's advisor, the founder of the Workers' Party has "slight pneumonia", underwent examination

The Brazilian president will travel to the Asian giant accompanied by 102 businessmen, as well as govern

Last year, China imported more than 89.7 billion dollars in Brazilian products, especially soybeans and min

The trip also occurs in the week in which Brazil exports beef again after a month of suspension. Sales of th

Other areas of note in the visit schedule include tourism between the two countries and investment.

In addition, it is expected that at least 20 bilateral agreements will be signed, including the one for the cons

On March 28, the Brazilian head of state will meet in Beijing with his Chinese counterpart, Xi Jinping, Prim

Lula's last official engagement in the country will be in Shanghai, where he will visit the headquarters of th

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/internacionales/317725-lula-postpones-trip-to-china-due-to-pneumonia>

Radio Habana Cuba