New York, May 16 (RHC)-- In New York City, a $10 million lawsuit filed against former New York City mayor and Donald Trump lawyer Rudy Giuliani alleges he raped and harassed a former associate over the span of two years.

The lawsuit was filed by Noelle Dunphy, who says Giuliani hired her in 2019, promising an annual salary of $1 million, but instead repeatedly sexually assaulted her. She also accuses Giuliani of being constantly drunk, making racist and sexist remarks and antisemitic comments — many of which were recorded.

Rudy Giuliani also allegedly plotted to sell pardons for $2 million, to be split between him and former President Donald Trump, and asked Dunphy to refer anyone who needed one.
