Chicago, August 15 (RHC)-- In the U.S. city of Chicago, police have charged a 43-year-old man with first-degree murder after intentionally shooting a 9-year-old girl in the head while she was riding her scooter.

Eyewitnesses said the shooter was upset that the girl, Serabi Medina, and other children were making too much noise in front of his home.

The gunman, who's been identified as Michael Goodman, appeared in court on Monday.

This marks the second time gun violence has shattered the Medina family. In 2018, Serabi Medina's mother was fatally shot in the head.
