Caracas, August 10 (RHC)-- The YouTube platform closed this Friday the channel "Con el Mazo Dando," a program led by the First Vice President of the United Socialist Party of Venezuela (PSUV), Diosdado Cabello.

Since this afternoon, the channel has not been available on that American digital platform, and it is unknown whether the suspension of space is temporary or permanent. However, YouTube usually closes the platform's channels when it receives complaints from users who consider the content they post inappropriate.

Two days ago, the leader of Chavismo received a silver plaque celebrating his success in reaching 100,000 subscribers. Cabello also received a letter from the platform, which stated that the number of followers was increasing exponentially.
