

Australia bans social media use for children under 16

Image not found or type unknown

Canberra, December 5 (RHC)-- Australia has passed legislation banning social media use for children under 16 years old.

Prime Minister Anthony Albanese touted the first-of-its-kind law as he spoke from Canberra. "World-leading action to make sure social media companies meet their social responsibility. Social media is doing harm to our children. ... Platforms now have a social responsibility to ensure the safety of our kids is a priority for them."

Platforms like TikTok, Facebook, Snapchat, Reddit, X and Instagram could be fined up to $33 million if they systematically fail to prevent users younger than 16 from having accounts.

It's unclear if the ban will affect ties between the U.S. and Australia. Elon Musk, a close Trump ally, blasted the ban as a "backdoor way" for the Australian government to control internet access.

In response, Albanese said of Musk: “He has an agenda.”

[SOURCE: DEMOCRACY NOW]

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/internacionales/371316-australia-bans-social-media-use-for-children-under-16>

Radio Habana Cuba