

Cristina Fernández Stable in Hospital But Will Miss G-20 Summit in Australia

Buenos Aires, November 6 (RHC-Mercopress) — Argentinian President Cristina Fernández has completed her third day in the Otamendi hospital after falling ill with a bacterial infection, according to the report released by the presidential Medical Unit.

The president is “stable” and will remain in the hospital receiving an intravenous antibiotic treatment for her diagnosed sigmoiditis, an infection of the colon.

The report states that she will continue under observation at the Otamendi hospital, and after hospitalization will have to rest in the Olivos presidential residency for at least ten days.

This means President Cristina Fernandez will not be able to travel to Australia to take part in the upcoming meeting of the G20 group, which will be held between November 15 and 16. Economy Minister Axel Kicillof and Foreign Minister Héctor Timerman will replace the President in the meeting.
