

Norwegian Foreign Minister Visits Cuba

Havana, February 3 (RHC-acn)-- "I am the first Norwegian Foreign Minister to visit Cuba and it makes me very proud," said Borge Brende after meeting with his Cuban counterpart Bruno Rodríguez in Havana.

The two diplomats met at the Cuban Foreign Ministry where they discussed bilateral relations and the potential to improve them.

Rodríguez welcomed Brende, pointing out that this visit has great significance and marks a new beginning for the two governments.

The Cuban diplomat recalled the fruitful joint work carried out by the two countries in Haiti after the 2010 earthquake and said there is a will to deepen relations in other fields, such as in education and culture.

Cuba and Norway established diplomatic relations in 1961.

<https://www.radiohc.cu/index.php/en/noticias/nacionales/45558-norwegian-foreign-minister-visits-cuba>

Radio Habana Cuba