

Cuba and UK Sign Accords Worth 400 Million Dollars

Havana, April 30 (RHC) — The signing of accords calculated at some 400 million dollars was a major result of a Cuba-UK business forum held in Havana since Tuesday in an effort to identify areas of mutual commercial interest.

The announcement was made by Lord John Hutton, co-president of the Cuba Initiative, a British-Cuban project promoting bilateral exchange.

Hutton said that the accords signed included the construction of a new golf course, investment in agriculture and other projects in the area of energy.

The British executive described the forum as successful and that they are satisfied, though there is still much to be done. The large number of business persons with the British mission in Havana confirms their interest in coming to Cuba, Hutton added.
