

Venezuelan School Vessel Arrives in Havana Harbor

Havana, June 24 (RHC) — The school boat of the Venezuelan Navy, Simón Bolívar, arrived Wednesday morning to the port of Havana, on a tour of member-countries of the energy cooperation alliance, Petrocaribe.

As part of celebrations for the tenth anniversary of the integration mechanism, the Venezuelan navy officials and sailors will also travel to the port of Santiago de Cuba, and then sail on to Jamaica, Honduras, The Bahamas and Saint Lucia.

During their stay in Havana, the seamen will meet with Cuban authorities and tour places of cultural interest.
