

Reconstruction Work Begins at Havana's Rail Terminal

Havana, June 30 (RHC) -- Cuban Railways (UFC) closed its Havana Central station on June 24th for the start of a three-year rebuilding and renovation project, which will include the construction of additional platforms.

All passenger traffic has been moved to the adjacent Coubre yard, where a former bus terminal has been converted into a temporary station.

Other major stations, including Santa Clara and Camagüey, are also being rebuilt as part of a program to improve and expand Cuba's railway infrastructure.
