

More Than 100 Killed in Sinai Clashes in Egypt

Cairo, July 2 (RHC)-- In Egypt, the military says more than 100 people have died in clashes between the army and militants in the Sinai Peninsula.

On Wednesday, the self-proclaimed Islamic State launched one of its widest attacks in the region to date, raiding military checkpoints and a police station.

Egypt's military said it had regained control and killed more than 100 people it described as militants.
